Client Responsibilities & Firm Disclosures

Sensible Money relies on the accuracy of information provided by clients and their other professionals (e.g., attorneys, accountants) and is not required to independently verify this information. The Firm may recommend that clients engage additional services or third-party professionals to help implement planning recommendations.

Clients should be aware that Sensible Money may recommend its own investment management services as part of a financial planning engagement. While this creates a potential conflict of interest, clients retain full discretion over implementation and are under no obligation to use Sensible Money for additional services.

Clients are responsible for notifying Sensible Money of any changes in their financial situation or investment objectives so that recommendations can be reviewed and adjusted accordingly.

Investment Management Services

Sensible Money provides discretionary investment management, meaning we make investment decisions on behalf of clients based on their agreed-upon financial plan and objectives. Investment management services are offered through The Juicing® Experience, which integrates ongoing financial planning and investment oversight.

While investment management is typically paired with financial planning, Sensible Money may, in limited cases, provide stand-alone investment management. However, the Firm strongly encourages clients to make investment decisions within the context of a comprehensive financial plan.

Investment Approach

Sensible Money builds client portfolios using a diversified mix of investments, primarily using:

- Mutual funds and exchange-traded funds (ETFs) – Core holdings for broad market exposure.
- Individual bonds, treasury securities and certificates of deposit – Core holdings providing liquidity for cash flow needs.

On a more limited basis, the Firm may recommend or advise on actively managed funds, structured products, individual securities, and annuities (fixed, variable, and immediate). Where appropriate, the Firm also provides advice about any type of legacy position or other investment held in client portfolios, but clients should not assume that these assets are being continuously monitored or otherwise advised on by the Firm unless specifically agreed upon. In managing client investments, the Firm uses one or more independent investment manager ("Independent Managers").

Sensible Money can advise on and manage certain investment products not held at a client's primary custodian, including variable life insurance, annuities, employer-sponsored retirement plans, and 529 college savings plans. In these cases, we help allocate assets among available investment options, though the assets remain with the underwriting insurance company or designated custodian.

The Firm tailors our investment approach to each client's risk tolerance, time horizon, and liquidity needs, and seeks to ensure, on a continuous basis, that portfolios align with changing circumstances. Clients should notify us of any changes in their financial situation or desired investment restrictions. While we accommodate reasonable restrictions, we may decline conditions that could materially impact portfolio performance or create an undue burden on our management process.

Use of Independent Managers

Sensible Money may engage one or more Independent Managers to manage all of or a portion of client assets. The specific terms of these engagements are outlined in a separate written agreement, either between Sensible Money and the Independent Manager (as a subadvisor) or between the client and the Independent Manager (as a separate account manager). Clients receive the Independent Manager's disclosure documents along with this brochure.

Currently, Sensible Money has engaged Asset Dedication, LLC ("Asset Dedication") as its sole Independent Manager. Asset Dedication provides investment management services, operational support, and portfolio rebalancing on behalf of Sensible Money. While Sensible Money recommends Asset Dedication's strategies where appropriate, all investment decisions are tailored to each client's needs.

Client Fees & Costs

Clients do not pay additional fees for Asset Dedication's services. Asset Dedication bills Sensible Money directly for its services, which are included in Sensible Money's fees, as described in Item 5, below. Thus, any fees or minimums listed in Asset Dedication's disclosure materials do not apply to Sensible Money clients. However, should other Independent Managers be selected, their fees may be borne directly by the client.

Selection and Monitoring of Independent Managers

Sensible Money conducts a thorough evaluation before selecting an Independent Manager, reviewing:

- Public disclosure documents and materials provided by the manager.
- Third-party research and performance analyses to assess past results.
- Investment strategies, risk management, and portfolio alignment with client goals.
- Reputation, financial stability, reporting, pricing, and research capabilities.

Sensible Money may select and monitor Independent Managers on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis, depending on the client's needs. Once engaged, the Firm monitors performance to ensure the manager's strategies and allocations remain aligned with clients' objectives and best interests.

How These Services Are Offered

- Financial Planning and Investment Management services are typically offered together as part of our ongoing Juicing® Experience service model.
- In limited circumstances, financial planning or investment management may be offered as a stand-alone engagement.
    - An example would be the financial planning needs for a young adult (often the adult children of our clients) who has no need for investment advice, or the investment needs of a pension or charitable organization that has no financial planning needs.

Item 5. Fees and Compensation

Sensible Money provides ongoing services on a fee-only basis, typically structured as an asset-based fee, which includes financial planning and investment management.

The Juicing® Experience Investment Advisory Fees

For the Juicing® Experience, after receiving a $1,200 up front deposit, Sensible Money charges a blended asset-based fee as follows:

| Portfolio Value | Annual Rate | Quarterly Rate |
|---|---|---|
| First $1,000,000 | 1.25% (125 bps) | 0.3125% |
| Next $1,000,001 - $2,000,000 | 1.00% (100 bps) | 0.25% |
| Next $2,000,001 - $5,000,000 | 0.75% (75 bps) | 0.188% |
| Next $5,000,001 - $10,000,000 | 0.50% (50 bps) | 0.125% |
| $10,000,001+ | 0.25% (25 bps) | 0.0625% |

Minimum Account Fee for Juicing® Experience Engagements

Sensible Money requires a minimum annual fee of $12,500 for clients engaging in The Juicing® Experience and/or ongoing investment management services. This minimum may be satisfied through a combination of: An initial planning fee (as described below), and ongoing asset-based fees for investment management services. For most clients, the minimum fee is met through the asset-based fee.

If a client completes Phase 1 (Plan Design) but elects not to proceed with Sensible Money for ongoing investment management within 30 days, the remaining balance of the $12,500 minimum fee will be due for planning services rendered.

For clients who proceed with ongoing investment management, they will continue to be subject to the minimum annual fee of $12,500, and the asset-based fee that they pay Sensible Money each quarter will count toward satisfying the overall $12,500 minimum fee described above.

Sensible Money may waive or adjust the minimum fee for clients with portfolios under $1,000,000 based on factors such as:

- Expected future earning capacity or asset growth
- Total assets managed across related accounts
- Account composition and existing client relationships
- Pro bono considerations or other discretionary factors

When a minimum fee applies, clients with portfolios below $1,000,000 will generally experience an effective fee rate higher than the standard schedule. Sensible Money only accepts smaller portfolios when it determines that managing the assets will not create undue investment risk beyond the client's identified tolerance.

Direct Fee Debit

Clients authorize Sensible Money to debit the investment advisory fees directly from their accounts. The qualified custodian handling the account provides quarterly statements detailing all transactions, including fees paid to Sensible Money.

Billing & Adjustments

- Initial Billing: Fees for the first partial quarter are prorated and charged in arrears.
- Ongoing Billing: Fees are prorated and charged quarterly in advance, based on asset values on the last day of the prior quarter.

- Cash Holdings: The Firm typically includes cash and cash equivalents held in client accounts in determining the value of an account for billing purposes; however, the Firm may, in its sole discretion, set up a non-billable account to exclude cash or other specific holdings in determining the fee. This may apply if a client has a high cash balance for reasons unrelated to the Firm's investment management decisions, such as holding cash for a home purchase or an upcoming distribution.

- Mid-Period Deposits/Withdrawals: Fees do not adjust mid-quarter for contributions or withdrawals.

- Termination: If the advisory agreement is terminated, fees are generally prorated, and unearned fees are refunded. However, see below for early termination information involving the Juicing Experience.

The Juicing® Experience Fees

Sensible Money charges a minimum fee of $12,500 for The Juicing® Experience. It is structured as follows:

- Initial One-Time Deposit: $1,200. Initial deposit payments may be made via check, cashier's draft, Zelle, PayPal, or other approved methods.

- For most clients, the remainder of the $12,500 minimum fee is met by the payment of their asset-based fee described above under the heading "The Juicing® Experience Investment Advisory Fees".

- Early Termination Clause: If a new client goes through Phase 1: Plan Design and chooses not to transfer assets to Sensible Money for management within 30 days of plan design completion, the remaining $11,300 balance will become due for planning services rendered. Sensible Money, in its sole discretion, reserves the right to waive this based on extenuating circumstances.

Payment Terms:

- Sensible Money does not accept cash or prepaid fees over $1,200 six months in advance.

- The terms of service are detailed in the Advisory Agreement.

Hourly or Project Planning Fees

In limited circumstances where the Juicing® Experience service model may not make sense, Sensible Money may agree to one or more of the following fee arrangements on a project basis:

- Project Planning Fee - $1,200 to $20,000 depending on the scope of the project.
- Hourly Planning $200 – $500 per hour, based on the scope of services and professional expertise of the planner providing them.

Fee Discretion

Sensible Money may at its sole discretion, negotiate a fee/rate that differs from the range set forth above or customize fee arrangements for select accounts (e.g., held-away assets, alternative investments, and household or related accounts).

Conflict of Interest Disclosure

Sensible Money may recommend clients roll over retirement accounts or transfer assets under our management, for which stand to receive compensation. This creates a conflict of interest. Clients have full discretion in deciding whether to engage Sensible Money for these services and are under no obligation to act on any recommendations.

Additional Fees and Expenses

Clients may also incur third-party costs, including:

- Custodial, brokerage, and transaction fees.
- Mutual fund and ETF expense ratios.
- Fees charged by Independent Managers other than Asset Dedication.
- Account-related costs (e.g., wire transfer fees, margin interest, taxes, etc.).

Sensible Money does not receive any portion of these fees. Details on brokerage practices are covered in Item 12.

Account Additions and Withdrawals

Clients may add or withdraw funds from their accounts at any time. Additions can be made in cash or securities, though Sensible Money reserves the right to:

- Decline certain securities for transfer.
- Liquidate transferred securities if necessary.

Withdrawals are subject to standard securities settlement procedures, and while clients have full access to their funds, Sensible Money designs portfolios for long-term investing. Frequent withdrawals above what is outlined in the plan may impact investment objectives.

Before transferring securities, clients are advised to request a discussion about potential implications, including:

- Transaction costs or short-term redemption fees.
- Mutual fund-level fees (e.g., contingent deferred sales charges).
- Possible tax consequences.

Use of Margin or Pledged Asset Lines of Credit

Sensible Money may recommend margin or other borrowing options in limited situations, such as:

- Short-term trade settlements to facilitate transactions.
- Non-investment needs, such as bridge loans or temporary financing.

The Firm’s fees are determined by the value of the assets managed, gross of any margin or borrowing.

Item 6. Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

Sensible Money does not provide any services for a performance-based fee (i.e., a fee based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of a client’s assets).

Item 7. Types of Clients

Sensible Money offers services to individuals and their trusts and estates, pension and profit-sharing plans, and charitable organizations.

Item 8. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies & Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Sensible Money tailors its investment strategies to each client's stage of life using the following approaches:

- Liability-Driven Investing (LDI): Used for retirees to align portfolios with planned withdrawals, much like pension fund management. LDI incorporates bond ladders to match income needs while mitigating interest rate risk. Sensible Money collaborates with Asset Dedication, LLC to implement LDI portfolios.
- Modern Portfolio Theory (MPT): Guides asset allocation by diversifying investments to optimize risk-adjusted returns.
- Efficient Market Hypothesis (EMH): Assumes markets generally price assets correctly, making consistent outperformance unlikely without increased risk.

Investment Strategies

- Sensible Money primarily works with those near retirement or already retired. The Firm designs portfolios for long-term investing. Fixed income securities are typically bought to be held to maturity. Diversified equity securities are purchased to be held for the long-term.
- The Firm does not engage in short-term trading or active market-timing strategies.

Risk of Loss

Sensible Money designs investment strategies to align with each client's financial goals, but no strategy can guarantee success or prevent loss. Clients must be prepared to bear market risks, including potential loss of principal.

Types of Investment Risks

- Market Risk: Investments fluctuate due to economic conditions.
- Company & Industry Risk: Individual securities may decline due to business or sector-specific factors.
- Inflation Risk: Reduces purchasing power over time.
- Interest Rate & Fixed Income Risk: Bonds lose value as rates rise; longer-duration bonds are more sensitive.

- Liquidity Risk: Some assets may not be easily sold at market value.
- Currency Risk: Foreign investments may be impacted by exchange rate changes.
- Management Risk: Portfolios may not perform as expected due to asset selection or market conditions.
- Fixed Income Risk: Bonds and money market instruments carry credit, duration, reinvestment, and liquidity risks.
- ETF & Mutual Fund Risk: Fund investments include underlying securities risks and management fees.
- Cash Management Risk: Holding cash or temporary investments may impact portfolio performance.

Special Considerations

- Socially Conscious Investing: The firm does not offer specialized strategies for social conscious investing, however sometimes socially conscious fund choices may be utilized in portfolios at a client's request. If you choose to invest in alignment with specific ethical, environmental, or social values, it's important to understand that these investments may have limited diversification across asset classes. The pool of publicly traded companies that meet such criteria is smaller, which can lead to overlapping holdings within mutual funds or ETFs. As a result, these portfolios may experience higher volatility and may perform differently—positively or negatively—compared to more broadly diversified investment strategies.
- Cryptocurrency Investments: Sensible Money may have indirect exposure to cryptocurrency, also called digital assets, through funds or third-party investment vehicles. The Firm may invest in digital assets upon a client's request through vehicles available on the Custodian's platform. Crypto investments are highly volatile, extremely risky, and subject to regulatory, technological, and fraud-related risks.
- Use of Independent Managers: Sensible Money selects Independent Managers for client portfolios and performs ongoing due diligence. However, such recommendations rely to a great extent on the Independent Managers' ability to successfully implement their investment strategies and Sensible Money cannot guarantee the success of any strategy.
- Household-Level Management: Sensible Money manages investments on an individual client basis, tailoring trades to each client's cash flow needs and tax situation rather than executing firm-wide trades across multiple accounts. This approach ensures that portfolio decisions align with a client's specific financial circumstances. However, because trades are placed at the household level, securities may be bought or sold at different prices on the same day for different clients. This may result in variations in execution prices compared to other clients holding similar investments.

Item 9. Disciplinary Information

There are no legal or disciplinary events that are material to the Firm or its employees.

Item 10. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Sensible Money does not have any related or affiliated companies.

Item 11. Code of Ethics

Sensible Money has adopted a Code of Ethics in compliance with applicable securities laws, setting forth the professional and ethical standards expected of its personnel. The Code is designed to ensure that all employees act with integrity, transparency, and in the best interests of clients.

Key Principles of the Code of Ethics

- Prevention of Insider Trading: Employees are prohibited from using material non-public information for personal gain or trading ahead of clients.

- Personal Trading Restrictions: Employees must disclose their personal securities holdings and transactions and obtain pre-approval for certain investments, such as initial public offerings (IPOs) and limited offerings.

- Fair & Equitable Trading: Employees may buy or sell securities that the Firm also recommends, but only if done in a fair manner consistent with Firm policies.

Requesting a Copy of the Code of Ethics

Clients and prospective clients may request a copy of Sensible Money's Code of Ethics by contacting the Firm at the number listed on the cover page of this brochure.

Item 12. Brokerage Practices

Recommendation of Broker-Dealers for Client Transactions

Sensible Money recommends Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") for custody, brokerage, and clearing services. Sensible Money may also recommend one or more other custodians. Clients retain full discretion over their custodian choice, including for ERISA and IRA accounts. Sensible Money is independently owned and not affiliated with Schwab.

When selecting a broker-dealer, Sensible Money considers:

- Financial strength, reputation, and execution quality
- Pricing, research, and customer service
- Access to institutional trading tools and investment options

Sensible Money has a fiduciary duty to seek best execution, meaning it considers overall value rather than just the lowest commission cost. Clients may pay higher transaction fees than at other financial institutions if Sensible Money determines the overall service quality justifies the cost.

Conflicts of Interest & Benefits from Schwab & Other Custodians

Schwab provides and other custodians may also provide Sensible Money with technology, research, and support services at no direct cost, including:

- Trading platforms & client account data tools
- Access to a dedicated trading desk & block trading capabilities
- Research, pricing, and market data
- Back-office support, compliance tools, and professional development resources

These services benefit Sensible Money but may not directly benefit clients. This creates a potential conflict of interest, as these benefits may influence the Firm's decision to recommend Schwab or any custodian providing comparable support. However, Sensible Money has determined that any recommended custodian's overall service and execution quality to be in clients' best interests.

Schwab does not charge separately for custody services but earns revenue primarily through commissions, transaction-related fees, and net interest income and management fees on cash sweep products and money market funds. The same is true for other custodians that Sensible Money recommends.

Dana Anspach serves on the Schwab Advisor Services Advisory Board (the "Advisory Board"). The Advisory Board consists of representatives of independent investment advisory firms who have been invited by Schwab management to participate in meetings and discussions of Schwab Advisor Services' services for independent investment advisory firms and their clients. Generally, Board members serve for two-year terms. Ms. Anspach's term ends in the fall of 2026. Advisory Board members enter into a nondisclosure agreement with Schwab under which they agree not to disclose confidential information shared with them. This information generally does not include material nonpublic information about the Charles Schwab Corporation, whose common stock is listed for trading on the New York Stock Exchange (symbol SCHW). The Advisory Board meets in person or virtually approximately twice per year and has periodic conference calls scheduled as needed. Advisory Board members are not compensated by Schwab for their service, but Schwab does pay for or reimburse Advisory Board members' travel, lodging, meals, and other incidental expenses incurred in attending Advisory Board meetings. Schwab may also provide members of the Advisory Board a fee waiver for attendance at Schwab conferences such as IMPACT.

Periodic Review of Brokerage Practices

Sensible Money follows compliance policies to review its brokerage arrangements to ensure they align with its duty to seek best execution.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

Sensible Money has not entered any referral arrangements with other Financial Institutions. When selecting or recommending broker-dealers, the Firm does not consider whether or not it receives client referrals from the Financial Institutions or other third party.

Trade Aggregation

Transactions for your account will be completed independently of any other accounts, and this may result in less favorable transaction rates or greater price spreads than in situations where trades for multiple accounts or clients have been aggregated.

Item 13. Review of Accounts

Account Reviews

Sensible Money continuously monitors client portfolios and conducts formal reviews at least annually. These reviews are performed by the Firm's investment adviser representatives. Clients are encouraged to update Sensible Money about any changes in their financial situation, goals, or investment needs, as significant changes may trigger additional account reviews.

Account Statements and Reports

Clients receive transaction confirmations and periodic statements directly from their custodians. Sensible Money also provides quarterly reports, either directly or through an external provider, containing:

- Portfolio holdings
- Account performance

Clients should compare custodian statements with Sensible Money's reports to ensure accuracy and consistency.

Item 14. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Client Referrals

The Firm does not currently provide or receive compensation to or from any third-party solicitors for client referrals.

Other Compensation

The Firm receives economic benefits from Schwab and other custodians. The benefits, conflicts of interest and how they are addressed are discussed above in response to Item 12.

Item 15. Custody

Direct Fee Debit

Sensible Money is deemed to have custody of client funds because it has the authority to debit advisory fees directly from client accounts. However, client assets are held by independent qualified custodians, who:

- Maintain custody of client funds and securities.
- Send quarterly account statements detailing transactions and balances.

As noted in Item 13, Sensible Money also provides periodic reports, but clients should carefully compare these with statements received directly from their custodian. Additional custody-related disclosures can be found in Form ADV Part 1.

Standing Letters of Authorization

Sensible Money may also be deemed to have custody when clients authorize third-party transfers via a Standing Letter of Authorization (SLOA). In these cases, the Firm follows SEC guidelines to ensure proper safeguards are in place, and clients retain full control over authorizing, modifying, or revoking such instructions.

Item 16. Investment Discretion

Sensible Money is given the authority to exercise discretion on behalf of most clients. Sensible Money is considered to exercise investment discretion over a client's account if it can effect and/or direct transactions in client accounts without first seeking their consent. Sensible Money is given this authority through a power-of-attorney included in the agreement between Sensible Money and the client. Clients may request a limitation on this authority (such as certain securities not to be bought or sold). Sensible Money takes discretion over the following activities:

- The securities to be purchased or sold;
- The amount of securities to be purchased or sold;
- When transactions are made; and
- The Independent Managers to be hired or fired.

Item 17. Voting Client Securities

Sensible Money does not vote client proxies. Clients receive voting materials directly from their custodian and can contact us with questions.

Item 18. Financial Information

Sensible Money is financially stable and is not required to disclose additional financial information. We:

- Do not take prepaid fees over $1,200 more than six months in advance.
- Have no financial conditions that impair our ability to serve clients.
- Have never filed for bankruptcy.
